Information

Keyes To Learning Charter School, affectionately known as K.T.L. is one of the oldest Charter Schools in California. Established in 1995 as the 85th California charter school, it's initial program was independent study home school grades K-8. Today, K.T.L. offers a selection of educational program choices from grades K through 12. Take a look at our programs - we are sure to have one to meet your educational needs.

Key Academy is a non-tuition, personalized learning public charter high school based on the university model. Key Academy is a two-day per week independent study program (Grades 7-8-Tuesdays and Thursdays. Grades 9-12-Mondays and Wednesdays).

At Key Academy a comprehensive liberal art curriculum, focused on college and career preparation will be taught.

Key Academy's program received WASC accreditation through 2016 and a-g courses are UC approved. Many of our students are also enrolled in tuition-free college courses saving them time and money!

K.T.L. Mission Statement

Keyes To Learning Charter School, working in partnership with families and the community, will provide each student in kindergarten through twelfth grade with the materials, expertise and opportunities needed to be a productive citizen and lifelong learner. This will be accomplished by offering individualized attention in one-on-one and small class settings using the highest quality academic resources.

K.T.L. Educational Philosophy

- Using the Core Knowledge Sequence, students should acquire basic liberal arts content knowledge early and in so doing create a strong foundation for thinking and learning.
- Parents play an essential role in their children's education
- Communication between the home and school is ongoing and an integral part of the learning environment.
- Student input is valued, promoted and acknowledged.
- Education is a lifelong process.

Besides Key Academy, K.T.L. provides three additional educational opportunities to choose from. We invite you to consider becoming part of the K.T.L. family and welcome those who desire a superb educational experience for their children.
